

In my essay I am going to be writing in support of killing cane toads. I have read many articles which have made me come to the conclusion that they are monsters. I will also put evidence to try to support cane toads but in truth must be killed.

From my cane toads studies I have found that they are villains and must be stopped. Even though that may sound harsh, they need to be exterminated.

Cane toads are, "Big ugly creatures" (meier, 2006) which are plastered with warts. They were brought to Australia in 1933 to defend cane sugar from cane beetles. It didn't work as the toads over kept reproducing.

Why are they a pest? According to Queensland politician Shane Keith cane toads are, "destructive creatures that are killing our native species horrible things" (BBC News, 2006).

The only positives seemed to be looking at killing them in a nice way. The RSPCA even argued that they were merces.

It was clear that they are a menace from the amount of articles saying that they should be killed.
